THE SERMON.

THE Missionary Sermon was preached by Rev. Wm. T. Brantly, D.D., of Philadelphia, on Sabbath evening May 17, in the Harvard Street Church, Boston, from the 2nd Corinthians, 9th chap., 15th verse—"Thanks be to God for his unspeakable gift;" and was admirably adapted to the occasion, having a tendency to deepen the harmonious spirit which pervaded the meetings for business; to elucidate the glorious gospel of the blessed God which the missionaries of the Society bear to the destitute emigrants throughout our field, and to unite more firmly all hearts in the good work in which the Society is engaged.

At the close of the sermon a contribution of about one hundred dollars was presented by the congregation to aid the Society in its operations.

The prospects of the Society for the future were never better than now. For its success let Zion pray.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE EXECUTIVE BOARD OF THE AMERICAN BAPTIST HOME
MISSION SOCIETY, MAY 14, 1857.

WE celebrate to-day, the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the American Baptist Home Mission Society. May we be favored with the Divine presence and guidance, so that our deliberations and decisions may prove conducive to the glory of God, and the prosperity of the important cause committed into our hands.

DEATHS.

We meet without the company of some who have heretofore regarded our anniversaries as occasions of deep interest; in the responsibilities of which they considered it their duty, and in the enjoyments of which it was their privilege, to share. They have been called up higher, to participate in the communings and happiness of "the general assembly and church of the first-born which are written in heaven."

The number of deaths, so far as we have been able to ascertain, is twenty-nine. Of these, twelve were ministers of the gospel, of whom, one, the Rev. J. G. Collom, was an agent of the Society. His services were valuable, and, stricken down as he was in the midst of arduous and successful labors, his loss is much deplored.

Of the others, one was Deacon William Colgate, of New York, an old and valued friend of the Society, and one of its constituent members. At its first organization he was chosen Treasurer, which office he held with much advantage to the Society for three years, and then declined a re-election. Ten years he served as a member of the Executive Board, and, during the last fifteen years, he was annually elected as a Vice-President of the Society. His counsels were always those of peace and love, and he died respected and beloved by all who were associated with him.

DIRECTORS AND MEMBERS FOR LIFE.

During the year, forty persons have been constituted Directors for life, and nine, who were such previously, have deceased. The total number on the list is five hundred and ninety-two.

To the list of members for life, four hundred and thirty names have been added, and twenty have been transferred to that of the deceased, leaving a total number of four thousand six hundred and fifty-five.

CHURCH EDIFICE FUND.

No essential difference has occurred in the state of the Church Edifice Fund since the last anniversary. An addition of near $2,200 has been made to it by voluntary contributions, which were, chiefly, designated by the donors for particular churches ; among which, is an amount nearly sufficient to defray the expense of building a place of worship at Rev. Mr. Gorman's station in New Mexico.

The prospects of the fund for the future begin to brighten. The Rev. Sidney Dyer, of Indiana, whose long residence at the West, has abundantly qualified him for the post, has been appointed as an agent, with a view to attempt to arouse public attention to this important object, and obtain means for its more vigorous and efficient prosecution, and who will soon enter upon the discharge of his duties.

WESTERN AGENCY.

In view of the great rapidity with which new towns and villages are springing up in the valley of the Mississippi, and of the importance of establishing churches in them, with a wise reference to expedition, economy, and efficiency, the Executive Board have decided to establish a Western Agency, and to seek some persons of requisite qualifications to enter the station, and discharge its duties, with the title of "Secretary of Correspondence."

In order to facilitate this important object, the Board propose that the 4th Article of the Constitution of the Society be altered, by striking out the words, a "Corresponding Secretary, a Financial Secretary," and substituting the words—"Secretaries of Correspondence," so that the article will read as follows: 5th. The officers of the Society shall be a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, an Auditor, Secretaries of Correspondence, and a Recording Secretary, whom the Society shall annually elect by ballot.

HOME MISSION ROOMS.

In 1855, a committee was appointed by the Society for the purpose of endeavoring to obtain a place for the transaction of the Society's business; which committee was continued at the last anniversary, though limited in the time to accomplish the object to the first day of January, 1857. They were instructed, in case of failure, to endeavor to effect an arrangement, by which the Society would be secured in a perfectly equitable occupancy of the rooms in Nassau street, then used by the Executive Board for the purpose, under a lease from Nathan C. Platt, Esq.

No place having been obtained on the first of January, the committee proceeded to the other branch of their duty, and made their Report to the Board, by whom the following vote was passed on the 16th day of April, 1857:

Resolved, That we deem the title vested in the Society, by lease of the rooms occupied by it in Nassau street, satisfactory.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS.

The financial affairs of the Society have improved ; not, indeed, by an increase of funds in the treasury, for the reverse of this is the case, but by such an adjustment of disbursements, as the amount of receipts, from time to time, would justify.

The following statement shows the financial condition of the Society on the 31st of March, 1857.

Balance from last year's account,	$592 98
Receipts from all sources,	44,507 89
Total resources for the year, ending March 31, 1857,	$45,100 32
Amount disbursed same period,	36,133 23
Balance in the treasury, March 31,	$8,967 09
Amount of liabilities, April 1, 1857, of which $3,195 64 is liable to immediate demand,	26,721 82
Balance against the Society,	$17,754 73

Of the amount received, near $6,000 were not paid into the treasury until the last week of the fiscal year, which was too late to be appropriated by the Board, and this sum is consequently included in the balance in the treasury, on the 1st of April. If it had reached the treasury earlier, it would have been appropriated for the benefit of destitute churches and villages in the general field, and then, of course, that balance would have been small.

It may be remarked, also, that for months previous to the time this large balance was received, there were applications for aid, of an important character, on the files of the Board, requiring the entire amount to have been in the treasury, to justify a favorable response.

The object in view in stating these facts, is to counteract an impression which may be formed in some minds, as has been heretofore, under similar circumstances, that our treasury is well supplied, and our necessities are sufficiently provided for.

Our conviction is, that to meet the real and immediate necessities of our western brethren, who look to this Society for aid, in their efforts to spread the gospel, the amount of means now in our possession is very insufficient; and the monthly receipts of the entire year ensuing should be increased a hundred per cent. over those of the last year.

This may be seen in the facts, that against the balance reported in the treasury, there are, already, claims falling due within the quarter ending July 1st, to the amount of $11,573 21, of which $5,385 85 will be due on the first of May; that numerous applications for aid requiring large appropriations, now await the action of the Board; and that new ones, to a considerable amount, must, as usual, be anticipated, each month.

The funds received under designation from the donors, for Church Edifices and other purposes, can be used only as designated. Thus, the amount remaining for the support of missionaries is reduced.

Owing to the increase in the distances of missionary fields, the cost of the removal of missionaries to those fields, and of supporting them when there, is very much increased.

These facts, together with that of the diminished amount of funds received into the treasury, show why the number of missionaries is less than formerly.

As the receipts of each of the last three months exceeded those of earlier periods of the year, additional missionaries were appointed ; and as good reasons exist for anticipating larger receipts within the ensuing twelve months, the number will probably be speedily augmented.

MISSIONARY OPERATIONS.

The missionary operations of the Society have been more encouraging, in several respects, than was anticipated at the commencement of the year. Several new missionaries have been appointed, some new stations have been established ; revivals of religion have occurred at different points, and success in various forms, has attended the labors of a large proportion of the missionaries.

VALLEY OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

In the valley of the Mississippi, all the States heretofore occupied by the Society, have received attention, though a larger proportion of missionaries have been distributed at its more distant points. Several of the stations supplied are of more than ordinary importance, and some of them have made encouraging advances in ability to sustain the cause without our aid.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

Very little change has occurred in our arrangements for the supply of stations on the Pacific coast, though the consideration of that subject has recently been revived. The missionaries in California are performing their onerous duties amid difficulties peculiar to a field inhabited by a heterogeneous and ever-varying population, but, generally, with more encouraging success than formerly.

CENTRAL TERRITORIES.

The only missionaries in New Mexico, at present, are Rev. J. M. Shaw, who labors among the Mexican population, and Rev. S. Gorman, whose station is among the Pueblo Indians. They are, however, assisted by native converts, and are making steady progress in their difficult work. An amicable arrangement has recently been entered into with the Board of Managers of the American and Foreign Bible Society, by which certain colporteurs, who have been in their service in that territory a short time, are to be transferred to this Society, and employed as assistants to our missionaries. The conversion of several Mexicans appears to have imparted new hope and courage to our brethren. The force employed there, may soon be strengthened by an additional missionary, and, with the native assistants, will, probably, prove as adequate a supply for all the real necessities of that field, as any developments of Divine Providence now before us would seem to demand, or, as a judicious expenditure of missionary funds will justify; especially, when the increase and expansion of more enlightened, vigorous mind, in other territories, is so astonishingly great, and in the midst of which there are existing such active, powerful, and insidious antagonisms to the gospel of Jesus Christ, and to the civil and religious institutions of our country.

There are three missionaries in Nebraska, and one in Kansas. The number in both territories should be increased, as the state of the treasury will allow.

INDIAN MISSIONS.

The only stations among any class of Indians, occupied at present by our missionaries, is at Laguna, in New Mexico. Here Rev. S. Gorman remains in the performance of the most self-denying labors, aided by José Senun, a native assistant. At our last dates from him, a solemn crisis seemed impending at this field, which would decide whether the people would receive the gospel, or utterly reject it.

OTHER STATIONS.

At the Grande Ligne stations, and at St. Andrea, in New Granada, the progress of evangelical religion is, as heretofore, gradually on the advance.

SUMMARY OF LABORS AND RESULTS.

The number of missionaries employed during the whole of the year, is eighty-eight. Of this number, fifty-two were under appointment on the first of April, 1856, and thirty-six were new appointments. In addition to these, eight others have been appointed, whose labors commence after the first of April. The number in commission on the first of April, is seventy-one. Seven collecting agents have been employed, also, the whole, or portions of the year.

The missionaries were distributed as follows:

In Canada, (East) five ; Canada, (West) one ; New York, one ; Pennsylvania, one ; Ohio, four ; Michigan, five ; Indiana, eleven ; Illinois, eight ; Wisconsin, seventeen ; Iowa, ten ; Minnesota, twelve ; California, three ; New Mexico, four ; Nebraska, three ; Kansas, two ; New Granada, one. The number of states, territories, and provinces occupied, was fifteen.

Sixteen of the missionaries preached the gospel in foreign languages ; that is to say, to Germans, Swedes, Danes, Norwegians, Hollanders, Frenchmen, Mexicans, and Pueblo Indians.

The number of stations and out-stations supplied, is two hundred and eleven, and the aggregate of time bestowed upon the field is equal to that of one man for sixty-four years.

The missionaries report the baptism of three hundred and thirty-six persons ; forty-two of whom had been Roman Catholics, or Lutherans ; the hopeful conversion of one hundred and forty-one others ; the organization of twenty-four churches ; the ordination of seventeen ministers ; the completion of three church edifices, and progress in building eight others.

The churches, aided by the society, contributed during the year to the usual objects of Christian benevolence $2,576 71 ; besides $11,351 for the support of the cause of Christ among themselves.

Ten churches, recently aided by the Society, will sustain their pastors hereafter without missionary aid.*

REVIEW OF A QUARTER OF A CENTURY.

With the present anniversary, we are brought to the completion of a quarter of a century of the Society's history. It is, therefore, a specially suitable period for a brief review of its progress.

At the time of its organization in 1832, the State of Illinois formed the boundary of what was then considered the "far west." Michigan had but recently been organized as a territory, with but here and there a settlement. Iowa and Wisconsin were unknown, except as portions of the Missouri and North Western Territories ; and, like all the regions beyond, at the North, and the West, were the pastures of the buffalo, and hunting-grounds of the Indian.

The population of the United States in 1830, consisted of less than thirteen millions of souls, two-thirds of which were east of the Alleghany mountains. The number of Baptist churches at the same period was five thousand three hundred and twenty-two ; and of ministers, three thousand and twenty-four. Only one thousand eight hundred and seventeen of the former, and nine hundred and fifty-three of the latter, were found in the western States. The number of actual pastors there was very limited. Much the larger portion of the ministers divided their Sabbath labors between several churches, often four, sometimes more ; and not a few of them were engaged through the week in secular employments.* The general standard of literary attainments among the ministers and churches, ranged at a comparatively low point, and but little could be expected of them for their proper elevation. Scarcely one half of their number were friendly to Christian missions, or to any acts of diffusive Christian benevolence. On the contrary, deep-rooted prejudices were cherished by them against all the plans adopted by evangelical Christians for moral reformation, or for extending the Redeemer's kingdom. Ministers of the gospel, and entire associations of churches opposed them, and the fellowship of churches was withdrawn from those of their members who dared to advocate them. The use of pulpits was denied to missionaries, and, in some instances, even the rights of common hospitality, if not entirely withheld from them, were exercised with unchristiantian reserve. Even in Ohio, the most advanced western State in missionary feeling and action, "one-half of the Baptists would have been opposed to any comprehensive scheme of benevolent effort, and much less than that proportion could have been actively enlisted in any such scheme."* "In the Annual Report of the Foreign Mission Board for 1831, the only credit from Ohio is $10 50. It was from a brother; the fruit of reading Mrs. Judson's Memoir."† The whole amount credited to all the Western States and Territories that year, was only an additional fifty dollars from Michigan, which was for the Burman Bible.

PRELIMINARY MEASURES.

It was under such circumstances, that a few brethren in Boston and its vicinity, became aware of the discredit and danger threatening the churches of the West and the East. They held frequent and anxious consultations respecting the ways and means of improving such a discouraging state of things, and finally decided upon setting on foot a religious exploration of the valley of the Mississippi. The agency for its execution was committed into the hands of Rev. Jonathan Going, than whom no better qualified man could have been selected. Through his wise and faithful performance of the duties proposed, those brethren were enabled in November, 1831, to proceed, through the medium of the Massachusetts Baptist Missionary Society, to adopt preliminary measures "to arouse the Baptist community throughout the United States, to systematic efforts in the cause of domestic missions,"‡ and to form a general Society, to whom should be committed the labor of spreading the gospel in North America. Being joined in this undertaking by members of the New York Baptist Missionary Society, and others in Philadelphia, a Provisional Committee was organized in the city of New York the same autumn, and a Constitution was prepared, which, with slight modifications, was sanctioned by a general Convention on the 27th of April, 1832; by which act, existence was given to the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

THE FOUNDERS OF THE SOCIETY.

Among the hands employed in the hallowed labor of laying the foundations of this Heaven-blest Society, were those of Jonathan Going, Lucius Bolles, Daniel Sharp, James D. Knowles, Nathaniel Kendrick, John Peck, Daniel Dodge, Spencer H. Cone, Elon Galusha, Timothy R. Green, and William Colgate; all well-remembered and venerated names of a generation, once most active in holy undertakings, but now passing rapidly away. In company with many missionaries, whom they sent forth to battle for the Lord of hosts, and who fell upon the field: and, by multitudes of converts won to Christ by their instrumentality, they have since met together in the presence of their Lord and Master, in whose name that labor was performed, and have heard the gracious approval from his Divine lips: "well done, good and faithful servants." Other cherished names, still lingering among us, lent their aid in the work, and will, ere long, share in the blissful reward.

EARLY EFFORTS.

During the first year of the Society's operations, forty-one ministers of the gospel became its missionaries, and served different periods, from a single month to a year. Three of them proceeded to the new territory of Michigan; nine labored in Illinois ; four had their fields as far away as Missouri ; and one went to the, then, great distance of the State of Mississippi.

ALTERNATE PROSPERITY AND ADVERSITY.

With varied success, the Society struggled on through many difficulties, gradually extending its operations westward and southward, until the year 1845, when, on account of radical differences of opinion upon the subject of human slavery, an amicable separation took place between the members residing in the slave States and those of the free. After that period, its operations were gradually withdrawn from the slave States, and for several years past, none of its missionaries have borne its commission among them. Indeed, the necessity for it ceased by the organization and labors of a Society for Home Missions in the Southern States.

At the anniversary of the following year, the Constitution of the Society, which contained provision for inconvenient auxiliaryships, was essentially changed, freeing it from all incumbrances which had originated in such relations, and might be repeated. From that period, its progress became, each year, increasingly encouraging. Its treasury, until the last three years, became annually better supplied, and its missionary operations were expanded in an equal proportion. Its labors were extended to immigrants from foreign lands, to the French Canadians, and to the large Mexican population which has been annexed to our country ; to all of whom the gospel has been, and continues to be, preached in their native tongues, and from among whom, many have been converted to Christ, and gathered into churches.

THE PRESENT "FAR WEST."

If now, when twenty-five years have passed, we search for the "far-west," as occupied by civilized man, in one direction, we can not stop short of the head of Lake Superior, three hundred miles beyond the north-western boundary of Illinois, and at the extreme north-western point of Wisconsin ; if, indeed, it can be found nearer than the Red River of the North, some three hundred miles still further. In another direction, we must ascend the Mississippi a hundred miles above its far-famed falls of St. Anthony. Journeying westward from Chicago, we must proceed hundreds of miles, until checked by the presence of the wild Indian, and the rugged barriers of the Rocky Mountains. Intervening those distances, are now, the States of Wisconsin and Iowa, and the Territories of Minnesota and Kansas, and Nebraska, and New Mexico. Still further on, are Utah, California, Oregon, and Washington. Beyond these, the hand of Omnipotence has gathered together the mighty waters of the Pacific Ocean, which, to us, forms the line of separation between the West and the East ; and here the voice of Omnipotence utters the decree to searchers for the "far west," "hitherto shalt thou come, but no further."

We might speak, also, of the southern portion of our field, and of the additions to it within the period mentioned, of Arkansas, and Florida, and Texas, in all of which, the Society once sustained missionaries, and has left the impress of its religious character and influence, but with the exception of a free island in the Caribbean Sea, the changes of that region are left for others to record.

GREAT CONTRASTS.

The population of the United States is now estimated at near twenty-eight millions, one-half of which is west of the Alleghany Mountains. Our denominational statistics show that we now have ten thousand seven hundred and seventy-four churches, and seven thousand seven hundred and sixty-eight ministers, of which five thousand six hundred and seventy-eight churches and three thousand six hundred and ninety-four ministers are at the West. This shows that our churches and ministers have increased since 1830, in about the same ratio as the general population.

In 1830, there were, east of the Alleghanies, one thousand six hundred and eighty-eight churches, and one thousand one hundred and eighteen ministers more than at the West of that range. Now, while at the East, there are three hundred and eighty ministers more than at the West, there are at the West five hundred and eighty-two churches more than at the East. Many of the western ministers are yet secularized, or perform an irregular itinerant service, but the pastoral relation is better understood and appreciated in all the West, and is sustained at its most distant settlements.

With the exception of a few districts of limited extent, the churches possess the true missionary character, and are active and liberal in missionary effort. A large number of those which, twenty-five years ago, barred their pulpits against missionaries, and excluded from their fellowship such of their members as countenanced them, now zealously coöperate with them in spreading the gospel. The story of Pagan blindness and idolatry moves many a Baptist heart at the West, and the statement of an exhausted foreign missionary treasury brings out, if not so largely, yet, as freely, there as here, the needful offerings to replenish it. Instead of $60 50, which was the sum total of western contributions for that cause in 1831, the last Report of the Missionary Union contains acknowledgments of nearly $10,000 for the year, from the north-western States alone. No Judson's Memoirs are indispensable now, to unseal the fountain of individual benevolence. Its streams gush forth freely and steadily. The missionary spirit of Ohio, operating even amid conflicting views of policy, brought out and placed at the disposal of the Executive Committee of that Union a year ago, the free-will offering of nearly $3,000.

A taste for useful literature in every form is now largely cultivated and sustained by our brethren at the West. They patronize the useful and liberal arts, and zealously promote the sciences ; they erect and endow institutions of learning, and, what is better, they do all this, to a commendable degree, in reverent subserviency to the cause of Jesus Christ.

THE INFLUENCE AND LABORS OF THE SOCIETY.

While all due credit is accorded to other and more local means of accomplishing so great a change, it can not be assuming to assert that the instrumentality of the Home Mission Society has been prominent, efficacious, and indispensable, as is evident from the following facts. It has sent into the field 2376 preachers of the gospel, or an average of more than 78 per annum, the aggregate amount of whose labors is equal to that of one man for 1960 years. The number of stations and outstations where they labored is estimated by thousands ; the number of sermons preached and pastoral visits made by them must be reckoned by hundreds of thousands, and the distances traveled by them to spread the knowledge of salvation by Jesus Christ, can be computed only by a still greater number of miles. Broadcast, indeed, has their influence been diffused to counteract moral evil, and promote the interest of the Redeemer's kingdom among men.

THE RESULTS OF ITS LABORS.

They have not labored in vain. They have baptized 24,718 persons, or very nearly 1000 per annum, all of whom were believed to be regenerated souls. They have organized 1011 churches, into which those baptized converts have been gathered, and ordained 534 ministers, chiefly reared up as preachers from the membership of those churches. Sabbath schools and Bible classes have been formed and sustained in all the churches supplied by those missionaries. There are no means of ascertaining, accurately, the number of children and youths who have enjoyed the benefit of those schools, but, after making liberal allowance for deaths and disappointments in character, it can not be an exaggeration to estimate the number of men and women who have commenced an honorable career in life, with minds imbued with the teachings of God's holy word in those schools, at less than 100,000.

THE SOCIETY MAKES MISSIONARY CHURCHES.

The ministers patronized by the Society, being themselves missionaries, naturally impart a missionary character to all the churches with which they become connected. That this has been the case, is illustrated by the single fact, that during the short period of only fifteen years, in which such statistics have been embodied in their reports, the churches which have been aided by the Society, have contributed for the distribution of Bibles and Tracts, for missions at home and abroad, and for other objects of Christian benevolence, the sum of $40,743 83, or more than $2,700 per annum. Let it be clearly understood, that this amount was paid by young and feeble churches, at the very time they were themselves recipients of missionary benevolence, and that it does not include a dollar from churches sustaining the gospel independently of that benevolence. The contributions of those churches which have become thus independent, form noble columns in the Annual Reports of regular benevolent Societies.

THE SOCIETY PROMOTES MORAL REFORM.

The missionaries have established for themselves a good reputation as moral reformers. Quietly and without ostentation they have passed through the families of their respective fields, removing or correcting moral evils as they met them. Their success is seen, in one branch of moral reform, in the fact, that, since the year 1840, at least 17,257 signatures to the temperance pledge have been obtained by their unaided personal efforts.

THE SOCIETY BUILDS CHURCH EDIFICES.

They have, also, bestowed much attention upon the accommodations essential to the promotion of public worship. Uncontrollable circumstances have subjected them to an active leading agency, in the building of church edifices. Not less than 202 have been erected mainly by their exertions.

THE SOCIETY STIMULATES ACTIVITY IN OTHERS.

There are but few prominent cities or villages at the West which do not contain some evidence of the efficient influence of the Society in churches planted, houses of worship erected, or appendages of morality, benevolence, philanthropy, and religion, established by those missionaries.

The movements of the denomination there in the direction of Christian effort, were originally induced by their counsels ; the advance of the Baptist population in educational and literary interests, was, to a great extent, guided by their wisdom ; its missionary character and energy received the first impulse from their teachings and examples ; what of moral and spiritual energy mark the career of western churches thus far, is traceable, in no small degree, to their early training by those devoted men of God. In the language of a well-informed western man,* when speaking of its benefits to a particular State, the "Society has given light and strength; it has aroused our churches to action; it has been, in many instances, their life.†

The Annual Report of the Society, especially the Tenth and Twentieth, and the Home Mission Record, contain many details furnished by State Conventions and Societies; by exploring agents and missionaries, and by travelers and journalists, which substantiate these statements.

It is in vain, however, to attempt by such means, to ascertain all the fruits of the Society's operations. Such statistics must fall far short of the actual aggregate of its benefits. They are written above, and, without doubt, are wisely concealed from our present knowledge.

THE COST OF THE WORK.

The amount expended in the performances of the foregoing labors, reckoning from the organization of the Society, in 1832, is the comparatively small amount, in round numbers, of $540,000, or an average of only $21,-600 per annum; the manner of making up the accounts of the Society for a large proportion of the time renders it difficult to ascertain accurately the average cost of transacting the business, but for the last five years, which are believed to have been as expensive as any preceding them, it has been, including salaries, taxes on lands, discounts on uncurrent funds, counterfeit bank bills, insurance, stationery, postage, printing, and all other incidental expenses, twenty-four and one-fifth per cent. per annum.

A FACT AND A REFLECTION.

No anniversary of the Society has ever before been held in Boston. It is a singular coincidence that it occurs here at this time, and that here, where the idea of the Society had its original conception, we may present this brief sketch of the valuable results of its organization a quarter of a century ago. May not the contemplation of those results cause happy emotions among the departed ones in whose prayers and counsels the Society originated; and may not those who united with them in those counsels, but who survive them in their unfinished pilgrimage on earth, and those who have since risen up to execute their pious designs, rejoice together to-day on account of the success granted them by him, who counted them all worthy to be identified with so excellent and economical a charity?

† 11th Ann. Rept., page 67,

If, amid the changes of human opinions and sympathies, the utility or advantages of the Home Mission Society become mooted questions, will it not be a sufficient answer to point to its one great and holy design, to these labors in promoting it, and to their fruits?

POLICY TOWARDS LOCAL SOCIETIES.

The Executive Committee, in their plan of operations adopted during the first year of the Society's history* declared that: "It has never been designed that the Society should narrow or embarrass the operations of the State Conventions and other Societies less extended in the range of their exertions." "It is designed to encourage efficiently all local efforts for supplying the destitute with the preaching of the gospel, and not in the least degree to interfere with or distrust them." This policy has been observed by every succeeding Board. Just so fast as the Conventions have manifested an ability and disposition to supply their own destitution, the Society has cheerfully acquiesced, continuing its operations within their borders only so far as their special necessities require, and its ability justified them. The Conventions of Ohio and Michigan and Illinois have thus undertaken the work of domestic missions in their respective States, and a corresponding withdrawal of Home Mission effort there has followed.

FUTURE WORK FOR THE SOCIETY.

The increase of new States and Territories has continually presented strong claims upon the benevolence of the Society, and called into requisition a large proportion of its means. Six new Territories, and one far distant new State, now present those claims; and our rapidly increasing and expanding population warns us of some two or three other Territories soon to be organized, and to which the Society's labors must be extended.

ADAPTEDNESS OF THE SOCIETY TO ITS WORK.

What the Society has done, it can with the blessing of God, repeat; and, with its acquired experience to guide, it can do more. It can keep pace better with the advance of civilization beyond the Mississippi; beyond the Missouri; beyond the Rocky Mountains; and it can duplicate its benefits wherever Territories are formed or States are organized, to the eastern shore of the Pacific Ocean; to the utmost verge of civilized society in North America, which is its appropriate field. There is no good reason to doubt its adaptedness to the performance of all the labor which is essential to the spread of the gospel in that great field, and if there were no reason to doubt the possession of requisite means for its performance, we might now joyfully anticipate the full accomplishment of the important design of the founders of the Society.

AN INCREASE OF MEANS ESSENTIAL.

Whatever may be the results of its operations hereafter, an equal amount of labor to that already performed can not be expected at so small an expense. It is not difficult to perceive that the work demanded of the Society for the next twenty-five years can not be performed by a less, nor even by only the same, number of missionaries as have been thus far in the field. To maintain the character of the Society for efficiency, to present as large an aggregate of labors and results the next quarter of a century as are now recorded, will require, under the change of circumstances now existing and likely to exist in future, a large addition to the number of missionaries heretofore employed. But if an equal number with those who have labored will require a larger outlay of means than heretofore, how very much should the contributions to the treasury be increased to justify the employment of the requisite addition.

MOTIVE TO IMMEDIATE ACTION.

It can not be improper to allude to the uncertainty of human life as a motive to immediate action on the part of all who intend to participate in this work of faith and labor of love. The opportunity now enjoyed to promote it will swiftly pass away. Our course is toward the point where labor or inaction cease, and eternal retributions begin. We are reminded of it to-day by the number of our coadjutors in the work who have fallen during the year, and whose names are written in the list of the dead. Could their voices be heard from those glorious heights from which they now behold the wonders of that redemption which they so lovingly strove to proclaim to fallen man, they would admonish us to sleep not as do others, but to awake, to arise and shine, and to work while it is called to-day.

BENJAMIN M. HILL,
Corresponding Secretary.

EXPLANATION OF THE FOLLOWING MISSIONARY TABLE.

The parallel columns show:—

1. The names of Agents and Missionaries, and the States in which they reside.
2. The post-office address of Agents and Missionaries.
3. The fields of labor occupied by Agents and Missionaries.
4. The dates at which the appointments commence.
5. The number of months for which the appointments are respectively made.
6. The number of weeks' labor reported as having been performed during an appointment.
7. The number of stations and out-stations supplied.*
8. The number of persons baptized by the Missionaries within the time of appointment.
9. The number received by letter.
10. The number of Scholars in Sabbath-schools under the care of Missionaries.†
11. The amount contributed to benevolent objects.
12. Additional facts reported concerning the state and progress of the Churches.‡

* Stations are churches or villages regularly supplied on the Lord's day, and are indicated in column 3. Out-stations are places where the Missionaries have stated appointments for preaching more or less frequently at other times than the Lord's day.

† In new places, where Union-schools are established, the number of scholars connected with Baptist families only are reported.

‡ In many cases two lines appear for the same Missionary, extending through all the columns. In such cases the second line indicates a re-appointment of the Missionary, and the dates in column 4 determine to which appointment or year the statistics and remarks on the different lines belong. A particular notice of those dates is necessary to a proper understanding of certain changes which appear against the names of some individuals.

IMPORTANT WHEN WILLS ARE MADE.

LEGACIES are sometimes diverted from the purposes of testators on account of technical formalities, especially in the deviating clause. The following form of bequest has been approved by high legal authority, to which we solicit the careful attention of those friends who kindly intend to place the Society among their legatees, as one which, if followed, will secure to us the favors intended.

FORM OF A BEQUEST TO THE SOCIETY.

I give and bequeath to the American Baptist Home Mission Society, formed in New York, in the year eighteen hundred and thirty-two, the sum of —— dollars, for the purposes of said Society.

Report of the Committee on the Church Edifice Fund.

Your committee on "the Church Edifice Fund" have attended to the duty assigned them, and beg leave to report:

One of the first wants of a recently-organized church is a house, in which to meet for the public worship of God. It is important that such a house should be centrally situated, neat, convenient, substantial, and in good architectural taste.

But, a young church, in a new region, is usually feeble. Its members are few and in moderate circumstances. Hence, when it "arises to build" it needs help. It is the object of the Home Mission Society, by its "Church Edifice Fund," to render this help. This it proposes to do, by loaning money, which is ultimately to be returned, with moderate interest, in order to be loaned again in like manner. This is, in many respects, a wise plan, and should not altogether be laid aside.

But, a still more excellent plan has been suggested to your committee, which they take pleasure in presenting to your consideration. The plan is to go in advance of the churches, into new and important places, and their obtain suitable building lots. Some of the advantages of this plan, are as follows, viz.:—

1. The small expense of such building lots, when early secured. Sometimes they can be obtained as donations, and, when purchased, their cost is often not more than twenty dollars to one hundred. While the same "parcels of ground," in a few years may be worth thousands of dollars.

2. A central position is ready for the church as soon as it is formed. For want of such a lot, our brethren are often obliged to purchase in unsuitable places, far from the centre of population, to their great injury.

3. This valuable property will cost the newly-formed church but little, or, nothing, so that they can devote their means directly to a house for worship. If the land is given to the Society, it will be given by it, to the church. If purchased, the church will be expected, when able, to refund merely its first cost, with interest, they having all the advantage of its increased value.

4. The lot may be obtained of such a size that part of it may afterwards be sold to aid them in building.

5. Great expense of time and money may thus be saved ; for the church may soon proceed to build ; agents will not have to visit older parts of the country for help, and brethren will not be embarrassed by applications.

In view of these and similar considerations, your committee respectfully recommend

1. That "the Church Edifice Fund" be principally applied to the purchase of suitable building lots, in new places.

2. That said lots be permanently secured to the churches, which may build on them, with such legal provisions as may be needed.

3. That loans continue to be made to churches, for building purposes, according to the discretion of the Board.

4. That, in addition to the usual contributions for the Home Mission Society, especial efforts be made to complete "the Church Edifice Fund." It has been decided that this fund, if possible, should consist of one hundred thousand dollars. Your committee regret to learn that but a small part of this amount has yet been raised. They believe that far-seeing and generous Christian brethren will take prompt measures to supply the deficiency. Loans, on the plan suggested, are like seed corn, in fruitful fields. One hundred dollars, well invested in building lots, now, may save the expense of thousands of dollars at some future day. Such investments will enable the next generation to speak of Baptist churches, in the West, as "beautiful for situation." They will permit our brethren to erect commodious and tasteful church buildings, and to dedicate them to God free from debt. They will give safety to loans ; for land is sure. It is "real estate." It neither decays, burns up, nor can it be alienated, but becomes more valuable as time rolls on. These loans do permanent good ; for they are continually returning to the Society, with increase, and going out again to render similar service. Thus, they will go and come, like Gods' bright angels, while flowers bloom over our bodies, and when we are amid the harps and hallelujahs of the saved above.

5. Your committee are gratified to learn that the Board have engaged the Rev. Sidney Dyer, a faithful and experienced Western Minister, to collect money for the Church Edifice Fund." They cordially commend him and his important object to the sympathies, prayers, and contributions of our brethren.

Report of the Committee on Missionary Operations.

The Committee on Missionary Operations, respectfully Report :

That, in attending to the duty assigned them, they have been most deeply impressed with the vastness of the field spread out before this Society ; and their hearts have been most profoundly stirred by the urgent demand for more laborers, that comes from large States and Territories that are being rapidly filled up with enterprising, intensely active, and gain-seeking multitudes, of various languages and races, no less than by the destitution of some particular communities, the superstitions prevailing elsewhere, and the irreligion of not a few others.

The conviction has also forced itself upon your Committee, that the greatness of the work, the imperativeness of its claims, and its present pressing demands, all authorized though they are, and all emphasized by the Great Head of the Church, are not yet duly appreciated by the churches and ministers of the older States, which are, perhaps, more highly favored with the well-sustained institutions of the gospel, and the ampler enjoyment of external prosperity and elegant culture.

Till within but a few years, this wide field was little occupied and little known, except by the Indian tribes and the animals of the chase, and the few trading companies that sought their furs. Now, thousands of thriving and increasing settlements—many considerable towns, and some well-populated cities, present themselves as inviting homes to the emigrant. God has renewed the pillars of the West, bearing the inscription "Ne plus ultra," to the very coast of our continent. Some portion, indeed, of this vast territory, is desert, but the greater part is fertile, and a large extent is like the vale of Sidim for richness. Nor is some of it unlike the vale of Sidim in the moral aspect of its population. Many tribes of Indians that inhabit the more northern section are ignorant of the name of Jesus; those of New Mexico are sunk in the most abject form of Romanism, while in the very State of California, thousands of Chinese grope in the licentiousness of heathenism; and all these under the eyes of our own government, occupying our own national territory, a government called Christian, a territory of a Christian nation. What an extensive, inviting, pressing field for the vigorous, liberal prosecution of the glorious work of the American Baptist Home Mission Society. What is the duty of American Baptists to these benighted multitudes? How can they fail to perceive the wonderful leadings of Providence, in thus encircling within their national limits these myriads of degraded and eternity-bound souls? Long has their prayer ascended that God would bring the tribes of the earth to behold the light of His love, and to rejoice in the glory of His gospel. And not only has He blessed the labors in foreign fields, but has increased the facilities for the speedy evangelization of the nations, by bringing their representatives within our bounds, and under our own political and social influence. By the accession of New Mexico, and the emigration to California, a new day of promise dawned upon the work of missions. By the uncovering of golden grains, that had been hidden for ages, God attracted to our own shores those of distant climes, that came flocking in search of the inviting boon. Among others, some thirty thousand Chinese, it is said, have crossed the Pacific. Many of these will visit their native land again; and if they were converted to Christ, what powerful foreign missionaries would they prove, as they gathered their former associates together, and, like the woman of Samaria, declared to their neighbors the wonderful claims of the gospel. Has not God thus given us a direct avenue to the very heart of heathendom and superstition?

Our combined missionary force, now operating in the vast area of New Mexico, Nebraska, Kansas, and New Granada, numbers but ten missionaries. Brethren. What are we about? Are we fast asleep, while the meridian sun-beams are peering into our eye-lids? Shall we continue to offer stereotyped prayers—"Thy Kingdom come, and Thy will be done!" while at this most interesting, most critical, most opportune time for action, we continue to dole out the meagre pittance we have hitherto done for the great cause represented by this Society?

The operations of the past year, though not so large as sometimes, heretofore, have been owned by God, and are such as should encourage and stimulate to greater liberality, urge to renewed and more vigorous endeavors, and should awaken more earnest, importunate prayers for an adequate supply of men and means, and facilities for the proper evangelization of our entire field, so that the next year's report may mention not eighty-eight missionaries, only, and $45,000 contributed to our treasury; but one hundred and fifty men, and at least $100,000.

The review of the Society's work for the twenty-five years of its history, should humble us all, that so little has been attempted, while it awakens the liveliest gratitude and devout thankfulness, as we say, "What hath God wrought!"

In conclusion, your Committee would submit the following resolutions as expressive of their sentiments:—

Resolved, That the cause of Home Missions is second in importance to no other department of Christian effort.

Resolved, That the West, no less than the East, greatly needs, and imperatively demands, men of strong, well-disciplined powers and executive abilities, combined with devoted, consistent piety.

Resolved, That the men whom the East can not readily give up, and whose gifts and graces are highly appreciated here, are the very men whom the West are asking for, in large numbers, and whom the West will gladly and abundantly sustain.

DOCUMENT No. 3.

Report of the Committee on Obituaries.

While we record with sorrow the loss of good men, who have labored long and most successfully in the cause of Christian benevolence, and have been especially endeared to this Society by their faithfulness to its interests, we can not withhold an expression of gratitude to God, that he has given to the world such men, and to this Society such friends and advocates.

The places they filled so long and so worthily, are vacant in our midst to-day. But, still they live. They live in the grateful recollections of those who remain, and in the savor of the good works they so well performed.

While all the members of the Society who have departed this life during the past year deserve mention, there are two in particular who should receive more than a passing notice.

Deacon William Colgate, of New York, has lately ceased from his labors, and entered into rest. He was one of the constituent members of this Society. He was its first Treasurer; in which capacity he served for three years, to the great advantage of its interests. Ten years he was one of the Executive Board, and for fifteen years has filled the office of Vice-President. Highly favored and blessed with the means for doing good, above most, he received also from the same Divine source, a disposition to dispense largely of the bounties committed to his trust. We would not unduly laud the large benefactions of the wealthy, forgetful of the smaller contributions of the poor, which, though they may weigh less in the balance of the money-changer, are often of greater value in the sight of God. But we name it here, to the praise of divine grace, that William Colgate was what we are too seldom permitted to see, a rich man, serving God with all fidelity; who, while engaged in large business, and reaping large gains, had still a heart and a hand for every good work.

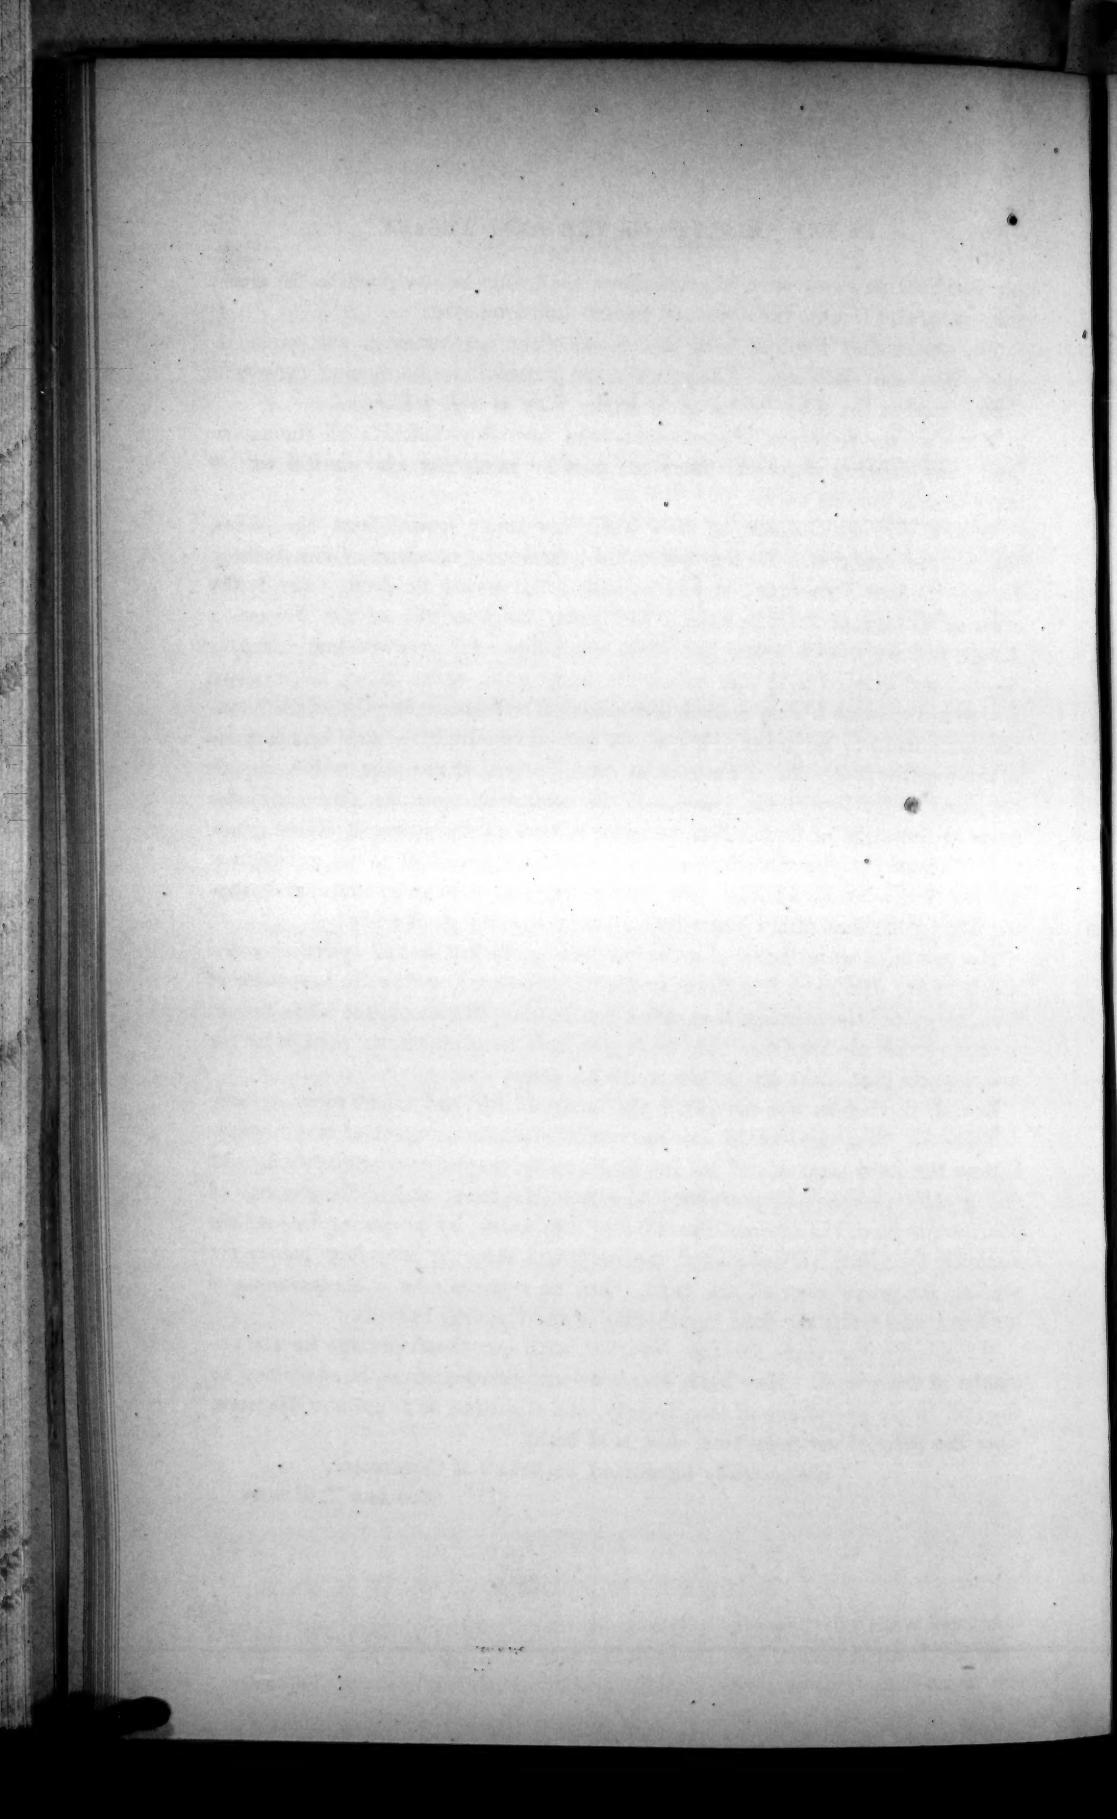

His last days were those of great physical suffering, but of spiritual peace and comfort. His work was done; and with composure, and in the assurance of faith, he waited the message that called him home. We loved him while living, we respect his memory now that he is gone, and mingle with our sorrow for his loss, regrets that there are so few to fill his place.

Rev. J. G. Collom was cut off in the midst of life, and called away by sudden disease, from most useful and successful labors as an agent of this Society. During the lucid intervals of his last sickness, he prayed and counseled for the still greater success and prosperity of Home Missions; and in the ravings of delirium, proved his intense devotion to the cause, by proposing impossible methods for filling an exhausted treasury, and securing abundant means for sending the gospel over all the land. But he rejoices now in the presence of his Lord, and waits the final ingathering of the ripening harvest.

We mingle our tears for the departed, with our thanksgivings for the triumphs of the gospel. May both, successes and bereavements, be sanctified to the still larger usefulness of this Society, and stimulate us to greater diligence, since the time of our departure, also, is at hand.

Respectfully submitted, on behalf of Committee,

EDWARD T. HISCOX.
